

A unique design challenge for under graduate architecture students of South Asia wherein every participant has the potential to make a positive difference.

The University of Westminster will sponsor a week's trip to London for the key winning team.

A collective challenge to transform 100 public spaces in South Asia

Westminster International DESIGN Competition 2016-2017

Be part of this collective challenge!

The best of the short listed entries will be published as part of the online source book of ideas of the 'Massive Small Compendium' THOUGHT LEADERS

MASSIVE SMALL COM/PENDIUM
Icons: lightbulb, tools, checklist

DESIGNERS CREATORS CHANGE MAKERS
NASA National Association of Students of Architecture

UNIVERSITY OF FORWARD THINKING WESTMINSTER
INITIATORS ENABLERS RESEARCHERS

The University will display works of the shortlisted entries at a special Exhibition in London. Up to three entries will receive match funding of £100 for each of their projects.

10 STEPS TO 100 MASSIVE SMALL CHANGES
Find out more about the competition and 'Learning Platform' on www.latitudesnetwork.com/westminster-design-competition
What is 'Massive Small'? www.massivesmall.com/pendium

10 STEPS TO CREATE 100 MASSIVE SMALL CHANGES

design brief | required outputs | submission details

STEPS TO INSPIRE 1000 MASSIVE SMALL CHANGES

Jury | shortlisted entries | award | publication

-

Form a team of up to four members and identify a disused public space in your city or neighbourhood.
-

Design an informative, recreational, easy to maintain proposal for this disused space.
-

Think about how you could integrate and source recycled materials to create your proposal.
-

Discuss your ideas with relevant stakeholders and obtain necessary permissions to implement your ideas.
-

Get hands on and make your designs a reality! We know this may take long and will consider entries that are work in progress.
-

Ensure what you build is robust and reflects your full professional responsibility as upcoming architects.
-

Get extra points for involving local people and communities to help you build your designs.
-

Make a three minute documentary of your process of transforming a disused public space and show us how people are enjoying your creations.
-

Compose an A1 size portrait panel with a before, in process and after images of the public space and a neat, simple plan of your overall proposal.
-

Send a link of your video and a .pdf of the A1 panel at UoWdesigncompetition@westminster.ac.uk by the 14th Oct. '16.

- Jury Panel The University of Westminster jury panel consists of reputable international experts who will shortlist selected entries for Stage I & II of the competition.
- Online Voting The shortlisted entries will be released on social media to undergo an open online voting process. The intent is to inspire more people and communities to join this unique design challenge.
- Stage 2 Stage I shortlisted entrants will be given individual feedback by the competition's team and encouraged to work with relevant local authorities and stakeholders to take their projects forward.
- Publication Smart Urbanism will publish selected short listed entries on their Online Sourcebook of Ideas as part of the Massive Small Project.
- Potential Funding As previous participants have raised funds to implement their works, three shortlisted entries will be eligible for match funding of up to £100 for their projects.
- Exhibition in London The University of Westminster will showcase a collection of inspiring entries at a special exhibition in London in June 2017.
- Award One winning team will be sponsored by the University of Westminster to visit the Summer exhibition in London. This will include return flights and accommodation for a one week stay in London as guests of the University.
- International Platform Our previous competition entries have received recognition in international architectural magazines, BBC UK and regional print media in South Asia. The University of Westminster is committed to providing an international platform to the inspiring works of its participants.

25 Jun '16 Launch of competition brief
19 Aug '16 Deadline for registration
20 Aug - 14th Oct '16 Interactive learning platform to share ideas and ask questions regarding the design brief
14th Oct '16, 10am IST Online submission of entries Stage I

Find out more about the competition and 'Learning Platform' on www.latitudesnetwork.com/westminster-design-competition

Nov '16 Release list of short listed entries Stage I
Dec '16- Jan '17 Online voting process
Mid Jan '17 Updated submission of shortlisted entries Stage I I
End of Jan '17 Final jury and announcement of winners
June 2017 University of Westminster London exhibition